PROPOSED OHIO TURNPIKE—A North-South turnpike across Ohio from Cincinnati, on the southwest corner of the state to the Pennsylvania border on the northeast, will be given serious study at the request of the Ohio Turnpike Commission. State Highway Director Sam Linzell will ask for $400,000 to make the study. The proposed route is marked by the broken line on map. The solid black line running east-west, is the super highway connecting with the Pennsylvania turnpike, now under construction.

16 Nations Pledge To Resist Attack On ROK; Britain Hedges

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A Turkey and South Africa. It declared that "if there is a renewal of the armed attack, challenging the principles of the United Nations, we should again be united and prompt to resist."

British and Canada quickly declared, however, that the promise did not commit them to any definite course of action. A Canadian spokesman said any move to meet a new attack would be taken only after consultations among the 16 nations.

Sign of the pledge July 27 was revealed in almost routine fashion here yesterday in a special report on the Korean armistice negotiations. The report was presented by the United States—the U. N. unified command leader.

It was made public shortly before U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in a joint statement with South Korean President Syngman Rhee warned the Communists that the U. N. Command would meet any new attack in violation of the armistice. The Dulles-Rhee statement was issued in Seoul as the United States and South Korea initiated a mutual security pact.

The pledge was signed by the United States, Britain, France, Australia, Belgium, Colombia, Canada, Ethiopia, Greece, Luxembourg, The Philippines, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Thailand, and

Alliance POW Is Among 4 Ohioans Freed

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Four more Ohioans were released from Korean prison camps today, causing tears of joy and prayerful thanks at their homes. Twelve Buckeye GIs now have been liberated in "Operation Big Switch."

Handed over to American authorities by their Red captors were Pfc. Alfonso S. Johnson, 32, and Pfc. William Lewis Jr., 22, both of Cleveland; Pfc. Nathaniel S. Thomas, 20, of Alliance, and Cpl. Amos Jackson Jr., 25, of Cincinnati.

Thomas' mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, 42, was at a club meeting when she heard the news on television. "I was so happy I hollered and yelled," she said. "I'm just so happy I don't know what to do. I was speechless for awhile when I heard it."

Mrs. Burt's 43, Lewis' mother, broke down and wept. "I can barely talk I'm so happy," she whispered. "I never went to sleep at night without a prayer for him on my lips."

Johnson's mother was vacationing in Georgia. His sister, Mrs. Alice Cooper, 33, received word in Cleveland of his release. "She has been praying for this day," the daughter said. "Sometimes it seemed it never would come. I can only hope other families will have the same good luck."

Jackson's mother, Mrs. Leona Jackson, said "It's just wonderful, wonderful. There were times when I'd almost given up hope of seeing him again." She said she had remained "glued to her radio" since releasing of the prisoner lists.

I Heard The Voice Of Jesus Say
A noted clergyman delights in doodling

Scotland's foremost hymn writer, the Rev. Horatius Bonar, D.D., was forever doodling on the margins of newspapers, backs of envelopes and in the note pads he carried in his pocket to jot down lines of hymns as they came to him on his walks and his travels in "railway carriages." But those who saw the Rev. Bonar's note pads say they were filled as much with incomplete sketches of faces and with doodling as they were with original lines of poetry.

In addition to his love for doodling, Dr. Bonar loved to sing the old hymns of Watts, Wesley, Cowper and Newton. But his congregation at the Free Church of Scotland, in the town of Kelso, wouldn't sing them. And at the big Chalmers Memorial Church, in his native Edinburgh to which he removed in 1866, Bonar's efforts to depict from the ancient custom of Psalm singing met with such opposition that two church officers got up and walked out.

But the children weren't disturbed by the complexities of church history and time-honored customs. They cared little that, as the Established Church, the Presbyterian Church in Scotland, had been controlled by the government and that use of any song book but the Psalter was forbidden. Nor were the children concerned with theological

I heard the voice of Jesus say,
"Come unto Me and rest,
Lay down, thou weary one, lay down
Thy head upon my breast."
I come to Jesus as I was
Weary, and worn, and sad;
I found in Him a resting-place,
And He has made me glad.

I heard the voice of Jesus say,
"Behold, I freely give
The living water; thirsty one,
Stoop down and drink, and live."
I came to Jesus, and I drank
Of that life-giving stream;
My thirst was quenched, my soul revived,
And now I live in Him.

APPROXIMATELY 75 PERCENT of the money contributed toward the purchase of the new electric organ which is now in use in the Greenford Lutheran Church came from people who were once members or are relatives of former members.

This unusual procedure in raising the money outside the church came about through the efforts of Willis H. Rotzel of Greenford and his brother, John Rotzel of Youngstown. Nearly 125 people, honored in the recent dedication, were named on the honor roll.

Mr. Kuitunen dedicated the organ in the service highlighted by a period of reminiscence by Albert H. Schroy of Dayton, a former member, and the principal address by J. H. Lehnninger of Youngstown.

Ike Signs Bill Letting Ohio Into Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Friday made it official: Ohio is a full fledged member of the Union.

He signed a bill confirming that: "The State of Ohio . . . is hereby declared to be one of the United States of America and is admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original states."

The bill became necessary after historians turned up the somewhat startling fact that Congress never had formally admitted Ohio, although it had approved the state's boundaries and Constitution.

The bill established Ohio's date of admission as March 1, 1803—the day the first state Legislature met at Chillicothe and the first governor, Edwin Tiffin, took office.

Rep. Bender (R-Ohio), sponsor of the bill, started to explain to the President at the White House signing ceremony that "We're celebrating our 150th anniversary."

He got no further than that when the President sharply cut in and said: "So you want to do it legally."

Four other Republican congressmen—Reps. Schenck, Brown, Bow, and Frances P. Bolton—were all smiles as they witnessed the ceremony and received souvenir pens from the President.

But Brown entered a mild dissent when he jokingly suggested to the President that Ohio might be better off if it stayed out of the Union, then applied for federal tax refunds "and some of that foreign aid."

Patrolman Joseph Channon said the existence of the "Skeletton Club" in southeast Columbus became known after a father complained that his 7-year-old daughter came home with rope burns on her wrists and burns on her hips.

Channon said a 10-year-old boy and an 11-year-old girl headed the club.

The father of the burned girl said her injuries came apparently when the older children heated curtain rods and touched them to the girl's clothing. The clothing was burned. The girl said she was tied in a garage by club members.

Channon said a 5-year-old boy also had been treated in this manner.

A 9-year-old girl was tied up but escaped before being burned, Channon said.

Inquiry among victims, the patrolman said, showed club members also frightened their victims by "running wooden swords at us."

Children's Torture Club Uncovered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Juvenile police today disclosed the fantastic story of a torture club in which two children of 10 and 11 imprisoned younger playmates and burned them with heated curtain rods.

A CHANGE IN VIEW

There's nothing like a new perspective to change your attitude toward life.

When Junior is bored, he simply stands on his head for a new slant at things. The floor flips to the ceiling, with tables and chairs hanging from it, and people walk upside-down. At least that's the way it looks to him.

It is a good idea to gain a different perspective—to step back and get a new slant on things around you. But you don't have to stand on your head to do it.

Instead identify yourself with a church. Take your family and go regularly to worship. You will find a new perspective. Genuine values will keep their importance; unimportant things will diminish.

Today's life will be happier; tomorrow's full of hope. Nothing is upside-down, but everything claims its rightful place when you view life with the faith of a Christian.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

177 Years Later

In his report to the nation at the end of the congressional session, President Eisenhower says his administration has made "little more than a beginning" since last Jan. 20.

This tone of apparent apology for not making over the United States between a January thaw and an August drought may become a political issue. This might be the proper time to recall that the United States is in the last quarter of its second century of existence.

It might even be the time for some of us to expect more men in public life to take a long view, instead of pretending that a complex society of 160 million persons can be operated by fits and starts like a Kiddie Kar.

A sense of history would help all the trustees of popular sovereignty in this republic to understand that politicians do not make but only confirm public opinion.

When voters installed a new administration last November, they did not repudiate everything its predecessors had done. They had and still have a clearer sense of history than any politician who could think that.

Even the now-famous "bloodless revolution" of the first New Deal in the early thirties, viewed by hindsight, was scarcely more than a catching-up to events of the twenties — a confirmation of ideas which had become common currency in public opinion.

When the New Dealers finally went too far and outdistanced public opinion, they were repudiated. That could be a lesson for those who may be tempted to make the same mistake with their mandate.

President Eisenhower is aware of the possibility and has warned against it. It has become his political role to be the spokesman for a moderate point of view.

It is the destiny of the Republican party, if its leaders know how to take advantage of history, to become the party of moderation.

Its first objective must be to create an atmosphere in which moderation can be made to seem more attractive than the sweaty, panting extremism that has characterized the politics of the mid-20th century — extremism which infected even the politics of the United States.

That is what President Eisenhower is trying to do. If he feels he must apologize because his administration has not made over America in seven months, it is because he realizes he is under the fire of extremists who would like to make it over every two years, to fit their peculiar and widely varying specifications of paradise.

Men? Mice?

Speaking for 50 million men in the United States, minus a minority of women's wear retailers, this is to say that a fellow named Christian Dior had better not show his face in these parts.

He is the one who started this ruckus about short skirts for women. By trade a designer, Dior apparently is a mischief-maker by avocation. His like has been with us a long time, in various forms.

One of the common forms is the creep who waits until everybody else is in a mood to go to a quiet restaurant to eat, then announces firmly he is in favor of staying home and heating up a can of beans. Another is the joker who can't let well enough alone in a poker game and throws in a raise when everybody else is willing to settle for a free ride until one more card has been dealt.

This Dior — and what does he have against us husbands? — insists skirts must start another of those ghastly shortening processes that eventually take them above the knee. When they start back down again, every female and her sister must have a brand new wardrobe to reflect the new look.

Why does Christian Dior, whoever he is, hate husbands?

New Republican Leader

When California's young Sen. Knowland was chosen by the late Sen. Taft as Senate majority leader for the balance of the first session, the Ohioan already knew about the gravity of his illness.

He realized he was giving the Californian an inside track on one of the Republican party's vital posts. Sen. Knowland's selection by Senate Republicans as their permanent leader confirms the significance of Sen. Taft's choice.

Sen. Knowland is only 45 years old. He not only symbolizes the growing influence of the Pacific Coast in national affairs; he has been a principal contributor to that influence.

Vice President Nixon also is from California. He was given the Republican vice-presidential nomination in 1952 out of deference to the region he represents and out of consideration for the political organization led by Sen. Knowland.

Other Republicans had strong claims to the post now filled by Sen. Knowland. They did not choose to press their claims. They deferred to Sen. Taft's choice of a successor for the post which will be no less important under Sen. Knowland than it was under Sen. Taft.

Allied Unity Can Salvage Korean Armistice

The armistice signed in Korea isn't worth the paper it is written on.

Concrete evidence of the faithlessness of the barbarian Communists who put their signatures on the document now has become known to the world.

For, on April 11, 1953, the Communist command in Korea pledged itself in writing as follows:

"The Korean People's Army and the Chinese People's Volunteers shall deliver sick and injured captured personnel at the rate of approximately 100 a day until delivery of all sick and injured captured personnel to be repatriated by the Korean People's Army and the Chinese People's Volunteers is completed.

"The number of persons actually delivered each day shall be contingent upon the ability of the United Nations command to receive them, but delivery shall in any case be completed prior to the termination date of this agreement."

Another provision stipulated that the agreement was "effective when signed and will terminate 20 days after the commencement of repatriation of sick and injured captured.

The repatriation began on April 17, and the 20 days were up on May 7.

Yet on Tuesday of this week there began an exchange of supposedly healthy prisoners, and the dispatches from Korea tell of the delivery of Americans and South Koreans to our lines in such bad physical condition that their illnesses and their wounds and their weakened bodies plainly could not all have developed since May 7, 1953.

The whole world knows now that the United Nations has been tricked and deceived with respect to the delivery of sick and wounded prisoners.

What is more significant is that Gen. Mark Clark, Far Eastern commander, has disclosed through a press conference in Washington that, when the Communists declared they had only 3,313 Americans, he had asked Washington to tell him what to do and the word came back to go ahead and accept that figure. At the same time, Gen. Clark reveals, there was information available pointing to the fact that from 2,000 to 3,000 more Americans were being held prisoners.

The decision, he says, was made by the U.S. and the U.N. to accept the 3,313 and to make a protest after the armistice agreement was signed.

No word of this was allowed to leak out at the time to the American people or to the peoples of allied countries. Misleading of public opinion is not infrequent even in the "free world."

So anxious was the U.N. apparently to get an armistice at any cost that the policy adopted was to take whatever the Communists offered and hope for the best afterward.

This means, unfortunately, that, if the Communists still hold 2,000 to 3,000 Americans as prisoners,

By TRUMAN TWILL

Nothing in years has taken more of us back to our golden days than these no-gearshift drivers who cruise along with their right arms draped over the back of the front seat.

They are exact replicas of the fast-stepping sports who used to fling their left arms carelessly over the back of the buggy seats. Look, ma, one hand—that was the idea.

Buggies, of course, were intended to be driven from a right-hand position, because that was where the whip-socket was found. Actually, it didn't matter. The horse never cared. But the driver sat on the right if he had a passenger.

If he was a real cut-up with a sailor straw held fast by a silken cord made fast to his lapel button-hole, your old-time showoff would cock one foot on the dashboard with a clocked sock showing, plus a hint of red garter.

Or he might let one leg dang'e-cessarily over the side of the buggy, in a position to be cut in two like a piece of bologna if the front wheel turned.

This new attitude of nonchalance which has found favor among the look-ma-one-hand drivers is only an up-to-date version of an old one.

In all of its other versions it looked just as ridiculous.

There were the blades who used to drive Model T's with their left legs hanging out over the doors, which on the early models were dummies; they didn't open.

For a period of years there was a threat of deformity hanging over swains who invariably drove automobiles with their left elbows jutting out the window at right angles.

Nothing ever has happened to the hot-shots who prided themselves on being able to manage all engineering operations with their left hands, leaving the right hand free for romance, except that there now are fewer engineering operations.

The urge to be nonchalant has given civilization the auto driver who can do the whole job with the fingertips of one hand; the devil-may-care type who sits on the back of his neck and exults in playing the role of headless

Powerful Blow To The Breadbasket

Decision On A-Bomb

By MICHAEL AMRINE

Eight years ago this week, at the Potsdam Conference in Germany, President Truman and his advisers — among them, Gen. Eisenhauer — were deciding to drop the atomic bomb on Hiroshima on Aug. 6, 1945.

As the anniversary nears, President Eisenhower is giving the most serious consideration to another atomic decision of world-wide importance.

On his desk are some recommendations and a complete speech suggested for a national broadcast, in which he would bring America and the world up to date on the status of the atomic arms race.

The tales of horror which are being brought back by returned prisoners indicate that, while the enemy may still hold 2,000 to 3,000 Americans who are presumably alive, the other 5,000 or more making up the total of 8,705 officially listed as missing in action were probably murdered.

Already returning prisoners tell of mass graves where their comrades were buried after unspeakable torture and cruelty.

That's the responsibility of the two Communist forces whose commanders put their signatures just a few days ago on the armistice agreement — a scrap of paper that now can be expected to be breached in other respects as time goes on.

The decision, he says, was made by the U.S. and the U.N. to accept the 3,313 and to make a protest after the armistice agreement was signed.

No word of this was allowed to leak out at the time to the American people or to the peoples of allied countries. Misleading of public opinion is not infrequent even in the "free world."

So anxious was the U.N. apparently to get an armistice at any cost that the policy adopted was to take whatever the Communists offered and hope for the best afterward.

This means, unfortunately, that, if the Communists still hold 2,000 to 3,000 Americans as prisoners, that might be given to Allies without giving it to the general public.

It is further argued that civil defense, both here and abroad, is lagging, because, years after the destruction of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the average city dweller still does not understand the realities of atomic warfare.

Besides providing civil defense information to our own people and those of our allies, it is felt that a report on our present atomic strength would serve as a warning to Russia, and specifically to China, in the uneasy truce of the Far East.

On the anniversary of Hiroshima, there is another side to the coin, which most citizens ignore — and the President is urged to drop the atomic bomb on Hiroshima on Aug. 6, 1945.

As the anniversary nears, President Eisenhower is giving the most serious consideration to another atomic decision of world-wide importance.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Pfc and the Asian Window

Dear Babe: Well, everybody is out with explanations and denials, but I certainly got a jolt from that report that John Foster Dulles planned to use G.I.'s to rebuild Korea and be "missionaries of reconstruction in an Asian show-window of Democracy" on account of an idle GI is an unhappy GI and only work keeps him happy. So I guess you will get no snapshots of any wheelbarrows in any Asiatic windows.

I am all for restoring Korea but I get my doubts that the key to happiness for a Sad Sack is taking away his regular equipment and fitting him out with a keg of nails, saws, hammers, mortar buckets and instructions on running a cement mixer.

Glamor began going out of war a long time ago, Babe, and it is pretty well shot up today. But there was always a certain co'er to it that provided a kick to army service and I hate to see this blitzed by linking the uniform up with overalls, a carpenter's tool chest and a bricklayer's trowel.

Maybe we will just work with bulldozers and trucks and not be asked to go over the top with modern plumbing fixtures. This could be okay. I am no bargain with a tool kit myself and any house I built for a Korean would bring on a fresh war, and the same is true of a lot of my buddies.

There is more satisfaction building than destroying, but there is nothing heroic about being drafted for work in a construction gang, I am afraid.

Sgt. Mooney says the average GI will go up Old Baldy with no thought except to do his duty and clobber the enemy, but that even a medal for distinguished bricklaying will not get him to put his heart and soul into a building project, however noble. He could be right.

An idle GI may be unhappy like Dulles says, but he don't necessarily bust into song at the idea of joining the building trades.

You know how it is with me, I can't put up a screen door right or replace a washer in a kitchen faucet. I would look fine in this "Asian show-window of Democracy," and so would my Aunt Minnie.

Well, anyhow, I will be back before the Sergeant starts distributing hammers and nails. I hope, so it is something for the replacements to worry over. Your letters to me are running too short. The last one was only 23 pages. I love you in 3-D.

Yours on fire as usual, Emil.

P.S.—Keep away from that U.N. building. It is going to be more dangerous there than over here for the next few months.

Corn Pups Are Guest Snacks

FOOD — Corn pups are guest of box in bowl. Blend in flour with fork until thoroughly mixed. Break egg into measuring cup and beat with fork.

Cut frankfurters in half; spear cut side with wooden skewers. Dip each in beaten egg, then in dry mix. Set aside on greased cookie sheet.

Add required milk to remaining egg. Stir into dry mix thoroughly with fork. Hold each frankfurter half by skewer handle and use fork to cover frank with muffin mix.

Place on well greased muffin tin. Bake at 375 degrees F. for about 15 minutes. (Allow 2-3 corn pups per person.)

Here are a couple of hints: If skewers are not available, spear each frank with fork when covering with batter.

As this batter rises quickly, you'll find it easier to handle if you divide dry mixture in half and add half the milk-egg mixture. Use up, and place franks covered in oven, then prepare second half.

French General Strike Ending

Civil Servants Return To Work

PARIS (AP)—French civil servants began trooping back to work today as the nation's worst general strike since the Popular Front days of 1936 sputtered toward a close. But mail, telegraph, telephone, gas and electric power services remained out.

Buses and subways roared back into operation and government employees were at their desks when offices opened this morning. Trains chugged out of Paris' big stations. Elsewhere, however, the rail strike continued.

The returning workers were among an estimated two million Frenchmen employed in a variety of public services from street sweepers and grave diggers to rail workers who left their jobs at midnight Thursday in protest against Premier Joseph Laniel's rumored plans to save money at their expense.

Walkouts in the big government-owned gas and electric power services were scheduled to continue until midnight tonight. The government's postal, telegraph and telephone services also remained unmanned as workers stayed away from their jobs for the third consecutive day.

Although the walkout by some 400,000 employees of the government-owned railroads was scheduled to end last midnight, the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor added confusion to an already bewildering situation by calling on all rail workers to continue their strike until midnight tonight.

Rail workers at Brest, Rennes, Toulouse and Quimper defied orders of their non-Communist unions and remained off the job. These unions—the Socialist Workers Force and the Christian Labor Federation—said, however, they were confident that rail traffic would become normal during the day.

The general strike was called after the walkout of postal, telephone and telegraph highlighted unconfirmed reports that Laniel's program included raising the retirement age of civil servants and dismissing thousands of surplus government employees.

The postal, telephone and telegraph workers are out for an unlimited period.

Justice Dept. Probes $65,000 Fee For Favorable Tax Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has taken over investigation of transactions involving $65,000 paid Welburn Mayock, a lawyer, for getting a favorable tax ruling.

Mayock testified he paid $30,000 of this into Democratic campaign fund coffers in 1948, and that he got the ruling after a personal appeal to then Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder.

The Mayock case was among the last unearthed by a House ways and means subcommittee which yesterday wound up more than two years of a frequently sensational inquiry into handling of tax matters during the Truman administration.

Justice Department officials announced yesterday the FBI will investigate the case.

Mayock, who described himself as a volunteer counsel for the Democratic National Committee in 1948, told the House Group earlier this week he got the $65,000 from William S. Lasdon, chemical company executive of Yonkers, N. Y., after obtaining the Treasury Department ruling favoring Lasdon.

Snyder, now vice president of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., at Toledo, Ohio, has said he does not recall the incident.

Subcommittee Chairman Kean (R-J) turned the case over to the Treasury Department following Maycock's further testimony that he gave $8,750 apiece out of his fee to Louis Markus and William Solomon of New York. Mayock said the two men had put him in touch with Lasdon.

Markus and Solomon both denied getting the money from Mayock. Kean remarked the conflicting testimony indicated someone was guilty of perjury and income tax evasion.

Snyder's name figured again yesterday in two further rulings aired by the congressmen in their final hearing.

One involved the Universal Pictures Corp. A. Frederick Olsen, an official in the revenue bureau's New York office, said the company wanted fast action on a claim for a $1 million dollar refund on its excess profits taxes.

The Columbia Motor Co., Park Ave., has tickets for the Soap Box Derby show in Akron, Sunday.

THE MOLLENKOPF reunion will be held in Pavilion 1, Firestone Park, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. Oscar Mollenkopf of Columbiana is president, and Ina Green of Sebring, secretary.

Rev. A. R. Brown, 14 S. Cross St., Methodist minister, will preach in the Presbyterian Church at 10:45 a.m., Sunday.

Gail Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Anderson, will represent Columbiana Methodist youth at Steubenville district senior high youth camp at Leesville Lake, Sunday through Saturday, August 15. Rev. W. S. Longsworth of the Columbiana Church will be one of the teachers.

A second Treasury ruling reported to the committee as having been speeded involved the claim of the late Frank C. Rand of St. Louis for an income tax refund of $30,000. A compromise settlement was reached at $175,000.

William P. Hindman, assistant subcommittee counsel, said the investigators did not think the settlement was necessarily wrong. But he said they wanted to call attention to the "extreme speed" with which it was approved, and the relationship of this speed to Snyder's interest in the case.

Snyder could not be reached for comment on yesterday's developments.

The legislators are now preparing a report on the basis of their lengthy inquiry. Kean said no more hearings are now planned, but will be held if required by future developments.

Previous hearings brought out that Universal Pictures hired John Horton, Snyder's son-in-law, in 1950 as its Washington representative. Both Snyder and Horton denied the appointment had any connection with the tax case.

Yanks Trounce White Sox, 6-1; Red Sox Trip Tribe, 4-2

Dodgers Whip Redlegs, 9-4

Braves Whip Bucs, Phils Edge Chicago

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

More and more it looks as if the Chicago White Sox are going to need outside help if they hope to overhaul the fast-moving New York Yankees.

The Sox went into today's double header in New York trailing the world champions by six games. After today the clubs meet only six more times, meaning of course that the most the Chicagoans could possibly make up by their own efforts would be six games.

Where the Sox can find that outside help is another question since so far this season they are the only club that has as much as broken even with Casey Stengel's crew.

After yesterday's 6-1 victory by the Yankees, the season's series stood all even at seven games each.

It looked for awhile as if the Sox were going to jump off to a comfortable margin in the second inning of the first contest when with one out they pounded Eddie Lopat for four straight hits, a double and three singles. But the attack netted only one run as a squeeze play failed and the Yankees settled the issue in the very next inning.

Lopat started it with a single. Joe Collins walked and when Minnie Minoso missed a quick cutoff on Mickey Mantle's liner to left center, the fleet-footed Yankee circled the bases as fast as you can say, "When do they start selling World Series tickets?" The next man up, made the runs look legitimate by poking the ball into the right field seats. Billy Martin homered with one aboard in the eighth.

The Yankees gained another full game over the third-place Cleveland Indians, who bowed to Boston 4-2. Brilliant fielding by Jim Piersall and relief pitching by Ell's Kinder saved Mel Parnell's 15th victory. Philadelphia edged Detroit 3-1 in one of the fastest games of the year, an hour and 42 minutes, and Connie Marrero of Washington shut out St. Louis on three hits 12-0.

In the National League the Brooklyn Dodgers maintained their 7½-game lead over Milwaukee as all of the first division teams trumped. The Dodgers trounced Cincinnati 9-4. Milwaukee whipped Pittsburgh 9-2. Philadelphia nosed out Chicago 5-4, and St. Louis handed New York its 10th loss in 13 games, 2-1.

Parnell's victory over Cleveland was his first against the Indians at Fenway Park in almost four years. He drove in three of the runs but needed help from Kinder in the seventh.

Kellner fanned seven in beating Ralph Branca and the Tigers for his 10th victory. Gus Zernial hit his 27th home run for the A's.

Marrero's shutout was the seventh one in the last eight games at Washington. His mates backed him with an 11-hit attack on three Brownie hurlers with Harry Brecheen taking the loss.

The Brooklyn game at Cincinnati was interrupted for 42 minutes by rain in the middle of the sixth inning, after the Dodgers had just scored three runs and were leading 3-2.

Brooklyn added one in the seventh on Duke Snider's homer, four more in the eighth including a three-run drive by Carl Furillo and a double by Davey Williams, the Cardinals pushed across the winning run in the bottom of the fourth with a double by Ray Jablonski and a single by Steve Bilko. Wilmer Mizell went all the way for his 10th victory.

The Phillies are 9½ games behind the Dodgers but they play like champions when they encounter the Cubs. Their triumph yesterday was their 13th in 14 meetings. The Phils bunched their eight hits into two innings and had only one other base runner. Ralph Kinit hit his 27th home run for Chicago.

Vern Bickford, one of the few Braves who didn't show immediate improvement in the move from Boston to Milwaukee, turned in a five-hitter in his first start since June 24. Del Crandall hit a two-run homer for the Braves. The victory was Bickford's second of the season.

Giles Condemns 'Dusting' In National League, Orders Halt

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Out of a routine "dusting" episode in a game between Brooklyn and Milwaukee the other day has come a sharp note from National League headquarters condemning the practice which is as old as baseball itself, and placing an intolerable burden upon the league's umpiring staff.

Previously, an umpire could only caution a pitcher for "loosening up" a batter—and nine times out of 10 get cussed out for his pains. Warren Giles' message, the hard-pressed arbiters are ordered to convict the erring hurler on the spot and turn him in for disciplinary action. Giles has promised to take a "firm position."

The league head was thus stirred into action because Roy Campanella, the Brooklyn catcher, tried to take a bat to Lew Burdette, the Milwaukee pitcher, who had low-bridged him twice running.

This created a somewhat riotous scene before the wrathful backstop was disarmed. The game's guardians are vigilant to avoid such episodes, and to keep the public reassured, and so Giles virtually had to say something.

We do not, therefore, mean to chide an old and valued friend. We will go so far as to concede that Warren meant every word of the warning he composed. All we will say is that, having been around baseball for a good while before he attained his present plane, he knows that the pitchers in his league will continue to knock down batters when they feel like it and that he has not an umpire so endowed as to tell for dead sure the difference between a duster and a pitch that "gets away."

We pause to wonder what will happen the first time an umpire orders a pitcher off the hill for parting a batter's hair in a close game. That should prove worth the price of admission. The odds are long it never will occur, or that an umpire will ever lodge an official charge against a pitcher, for that matter.

Contrary to some opinion, umpires are not dumb. If anything, their intelligence averages a little higher than that of the athletes around them. Most of them have played baseball, and they fully realize that every pitcher at a time or another "loosens up" a batter, moves him back from the plate, with a hard one around the cap brim. They accept it as part of the game and rather resent the role of policeman which has been forced upon them. As it happens, we only recently had a conversation on the subject with one of Giles' finest.

"Of course I know they're throwing dusters," he conceded. "I ducked plenty of 'em in my day. Now and then I'll speak to one of them about it, but they deny it every time and usually their manager comes running out and holds up the game. After all, it comes down to my opinion against the pitcher's word. I don't need trouble that bad."

Dodgers Fight Back To Whip Redlegs, 9-4

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Ed (Porky) Oliver, father of four and undoubtedly golf's most celebrated broadwinner, may have found the keys to the Ft. Knox of the tournament circuit.

The affable 220-pounder, probably thinking of all the mouths he has to feed, has gone hog-wild in the chase for the $25,000 first-prize of the "World's" Golf Championship at Tam O'Shanter.

Old Pork Chops, wisecracking favorite of his colleagues in the lockerroom but a feared adversary on the links, headed into today's third round with a 2-stroke lead.

The short-iron master got in this enviable position of golf's richest tournament by calmly shooting a second-round 67 yesterday while some first-round leaders were choking up under the pressure.

The 67 gave the 36-year-old pro from Palm Springs, Calif., a neat 135, seven strokes under par, at the halfway point, and a chance at Tam's 72-hole record of 269 set by Byron Nelson in 1945.

"Porky is the man to catch now," said Al Bessellink, voicing the opinion of the other 82 pros in the field. "He seldom folds under pressure. He just goes out and plays. I still think a 273 will be good enough to win, however."

Bunched on Oliver's heels at 137 were Dave Douglas, the personable PGA vice president who had yesterday's best round, a 65; Bob Toski, a 123-pounder who hits the ball a country mile; and Lew Worsham, the first-round leader who forced 5 strokes to par in the last six holes after a brilliant 33 on the first nine to wind up with a 72.

Doubles by Junior Gilliam and Jackie Robinson, along with a walk, a single and a fly had given the Dodgers their three runs in the sixth.

Duke Snider smashed his 22nd home run in the seventh for an another counter and Chuck Dressen's lads pulled out the stops with four more runs in the eighth. The big blow was Carl Furillo's 15th homer off Frank Smith, who had relieved loser Harry Perkowski.

Brooklyn and Cincinnati go at it again tonight. Lefty Fred Baczewski will be trying to win his seventh of eight decisions for Cincinnati.

Veteran Preacher Roe (7-2) is to pitch for the Dodgers.

Cockell Beats Kid Matthews

Londoner Ends Strong To Win Close Decision

SEATTLE (AP)—A body blow thrown in the desperation of a losing battle doubled up the veteran Harry (Kid) Matthews of Seattle last night and put the fat but agile British heavyweight champion, Don Cockell, on the road to a 10-round split decision victory.

A crowd of 14,868, which paid a record $86,606 to see the scrap, was as surprised as the 180-pound Matthews at the sudden ninth-round explosion. Cockell, who outweighed Matthews by 31½ pounds, was bleeding from a deep gash over his left cheekbone and seemed all but whipped after eight rounds.

Then he caught Matthews with the sweeping smash to the midsection and blasted the Seattle veteran on the jaw before he hit the canvas in the first of three nine-round knockdowns in that decisive ninth round.

There were howls of rage in the Matthews camp after the decision was announced. Only Judge Eddie Pinkman favored the 31-year-old "Kid," 51 points to 49. Judge Jim Grant had it 50½ to 49½ for Cockell and Referee Jimmy Wilson voted for the Britisher 55 to 45.

"I thought Harry won 7 out of 10 rounds," said Jack Hurley, Matthews' manager. "He was so far in front at the ninth I didn't see how he could lose."

But the fight was decided entirely on points. The Associated Press scorecard had Matthews winning six rounds, with two going to Cockell and two even—but split the points, 5 to each man.

Matthews began piling up the points from the start, evading the rushes of the overweight Cockell and punishing him with sharp jabs and hooks. In the sixth he opened a cut an inch and a half long on the Londoner's cheek and he kept it bleeding for three rounds.

Twice Dr. James T. Moriarty, Washington Athletic Commission physician, entered the ring between rounds to survey the wound and the crowd half expected him to stop the fight. When he didn't, the fans urged Matthews to make it a koway finish.

Red Sox Push Indians 10½ Games From First

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox were breathing down the necks of the Cleveland Indians again today as the Tribe slipped to 10½ games out of first, the lowest for the club since July 30.

Boston's 4-2 triumph over the third-place Indians last night pulled the Beantowners to within 2½ games of the Tribe.

Bill Henry, who has a 2-2 record, got the Boston mound assignment today in the second meeting of the clubs. Early Wynn, seeking his 13th victory against eight defeats, was picked to hurl for Cleveland.

The Sox slugged Bob Lemon hard last night, collecting 12 hits while the Tribe was getting only six off Mel Parnell and Ellis Kinder. The loss was Lemon's 10th against 15 victories while Parnell upped his record to 15-7. The best the Tribe could do was an inside-the-park homer by Bobby Avila in the first inning and a Homer by Luke Easter in the sixth. Avila's freak circuit-clout landed just inside the right field foul line. Right fielder Jim Piersall raced in and managed to deflect the ball, but then stunned himself by crashing into the grandstand wall. Before the ball could be retrieved, Avila had circled the bases.

WEEDS WON'T EVEN GROW — This was once a so-called "improved" pasture in Marshall, Mo., but now it's only slim pickings for the cattle shown above. The field was fertilized and seeded according to the latest methods, but it was to no avail. It has been so dry that even weeds will not grow. As a result cattle are losing weight and the market in the area is disintegrating.

Arthur Poll, pastor of the Minerva Christian Church, officiating. Burial will be in Millport Cemetery.

Woman Driver Fined After Traffic Mishap

A 25-year-old Salem woman pleaded guilty to driving without an operator's permit at a hearing before Mayor Harry M. Vincent Friday, following one of two traffic mishaps investigated by police in the city yesterday.

Ruth J. Baltorin of 837 E. 4th St. was fined $15 and costs on the charge after she ran into the rear of a car driven by Rachel W. Smith, 52, of RD 2, Salem on N. Lincoln Ave. at 3:15 p.m.

Police said the Smith woman was traveling north on the street and had stopped to await her turn to pull around a truck unloading at the Natural Gas Co. The Baltorin car, also traveling north, failed to stop and ran into the rear of the Smith auto.

Damage estimated at $150 was done to the Smith car, police stated. No damage was sustained by the Baltorin woman's car.

In the second city hit-skip mishap in the last two days, William C. Buehler of 462 N. Ellsworth Ave. told police an unidentified vehicle ran into his car while it was parked in front of his home.

He said the accident occurred between 1 and 7 a.m. Friday and damaged the left rear fender and bumper.

2 Killed, 3 Injured In Headon Collision

WAUSEON, Ohio (AP) — Two persons were killed and three injured yesterday when an automobile took to the wrong side of Alternate U. S. 20 near Burlington and smashed headon into another car, the State Highway Patrol reported.

Dead were Elva Fifer, 41, of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Joseph Getter, 31, of Cleveland.

Vet, 75, Nears End Of 4,450-Mile Trip

CLEVELAND (AP) — Salt water, fresh water, it's all the same to Harvey H. Hecker.

Harvey says he had "a heck of a lot of kicks" out of his 4,450-mile trip around the eastern half of the United States.

He's the 75-year-old who lives at the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Home in Sandusky. A Spanish War veteran, he once was an engineer.

Got the wanderlust last year, he did, and put a 15-foot boat together from a kit he bought from a mail order house. Put an outboard motor on it, and last November shoved off down the Ohio River from Portsmouth.

Down the Ohio and Mississippi, out into the Gulf and around Florida, up the Intra-Coastal Waterways to New York, then the Erie Canal, back along the shore of Lake Erie. Now there's only 60 miles to home.

Next comes an overhaul for the boat in Sandusky, then a visit to Chicago for some radio and television programs. And when the urge comes, another leisurely trip down the Mississippi, and over to Florida again.

to make them feel good," Rudd declared.

Dixon said the prisoners were forced to submit to indoctrination classes but added, "Communism isn't fit for a dog."

Agreeing with Dixon were Pfc. Nathaniel S. Thomas of Alliance, Ohio, and Pfc. Leroy Broom of Albany, Ga. All three were in the same camp.

Cpl. Robert I. Banks, 23, Cambridge, Md., said he knew of a few prisoners who sympathized with the Communists.

"They were called progressives" by the other prisoners, Banks said. "I thought they were taking the wrong road."

He said some of the "progressives" were separated from the others and given further courses in communism.

Banks said at first the white prisoners were not separated by the Reds but later the whites were put in camps away from Negroes. He said still later the prisoners were split up according to nationality but that American Negroes were kept away from the whites.

Banks said the Communists harped on racial discrimination in the United States but did not make much headway toward converting Americans into Reds.

Pfc. Wilbert R. Gibson, 29, Detroit, said, "I saw them whip one guy. They hit him with a club, cut him up and threw him in a hole in the ground. I never saw him again."

Gibson's wife, Mrs. Polly Gibson, lives at 116 Zeila St., San Antonio, Tex.

Pfc. Lorraine Hemphill, 26, of White Stone, S. C., captured in December 1950 at Kumu, was asked if the Communists used rifle butts and bayonets to prod the men on the march north to Pyongyang.

"You ain't kidding," he replied.

He said some men fell behind and a guard would remain with them but later the guard would show up without the prisoners.

"I don't know what happened to them," Hemphill said.

basing American troops in Korea. But the secretary of state told a news conference that "we want to get our armed forces home as soon as is consistent with our responsibilities."

Dulles and his advisers also discussed with South Korean leaders a vast program of economic aid planned by the United States to rebuild the war-shattered land. The three to four-year program contemplates one billion dollars in American aid, of which 20 million already has been approved by Congress.

The two governments swapped ideas and drafted plans for working side by side to achieve peace, just as they did in fighting the war, Dulles said.

The joint Rhee-Dulles statement said they hope their exchange of views "will establish a preparatory foundation for coordinated efforts at the political conference."

The high-level international talks, according to the armistice terms, must open by Oct. 27.

The talks are aimed at finding a way to unite North and South Korea by peaceful means and fixing a time for withdrawal of Chinese and U. N. forces from the peninsula.

Dulles told newsmen other matters might arise for debate. These could include such Asian issues as the fate of Formosa and the Indochina war.

But Dulles and Rhee agreed not to let the political conversations drag on without progress.

If after 90 days, the United States and South Korea see "that the conference is being exploited by the Communist delegates mainly to infiltrate, propagandize or otherwise embarrass the Republic of Korea," the two nations will walk out, they said.

The conference almost certainly would collapse if these two countries pulled out, official quarters agree.
